Every second and every play matters, and as the season progresses and the stakes continue to grow, you want every advantage you can get. The Bose SoundComm B40 Headset provides enhanced communication and is engineered for significantly improved comfort, audio, and noise reduction compared to conventional passive headsets. While Bose has a long history of using active noise cancellation technology, the the SoundComm B40 Headset with active noise cancellation represents a breakthrough in the sports intercom environment, where noise is pervasive and game day communication and comfort are critical.

Bose SoundComm B40 single-ear and dual-ear headsets feature a microphone boom located on either the left or right ear; a cable terminated with a 4-Pin Female XLR connector; and acoustic noise-cancelling technology, providing increased low-frequency noise attenuation.

Why the Bose B40 headset?

- ✓ Allows coaches to perform their job in high noise environments.
- ✓ Reduces background noise in loud environments, enabling improved communications and intelligibility.
- ✓ Ergonomic design that provides unmatched comfort and performance allowing it to be worn longer.
- ✓ Built and tested for demanding use and outdoor environments.
